VILLAGE

At the banks of river Lena and hugged to the castle's hill, Porto de Mós village has a unique heritage. The natural and cultural wealth of the region is an attraction for nature tourism and speleology. The village, structured from its historical centre, houses urban functions. The 'Vila Forte', as Luís de Camões designates it in 'Os Lusíadas', is associated with the figure of D. Fuas Roupinho, the alcaide-mor of the castle, which, according to the fabulous narratives, in 1180, reconquered the fortress from the Moors. In 1385, Porto de Mós is the stage of the preparations for Aljubarrota Battle.

Part of Serra de Aire e Candeeiros Natural Park, Porto de Mós Municipality offers unique natural settings that invite to discovery. Its natural side is allied to the historical context of affirmation of Portugal as an independent nation, in the late 14th century. The region of Porto de Mós has been occupied for millennia and its name reminds the importance of the milling industry and the exploitation of stone for mills, for centuries. Today, limestone is of excellence for Portuguese sidewalks and ornamental stone.
